Hillsborough Community College Is Now a Center of Excellence for the Online Delivery of Learning Without Scars' Online Dealer Management Programs

HONOLULU, November 2, 2023 - Learning Without Scars (LWS) is pleased to announce the establishment of its latest Center of Excellence (COE) at Hillsborough Community College (HCC), part of the 28-school Florida community college system.

As a COE, the College will deliver Learning Without Scars' online dealer management educational programs in parts, service, sales, marketing, supply chain, finance, and leadership through both its Corporate and Continuing Education channels.

Offering premier programs and degrees that are effective, HCC, a fully accredited public college within the State of Florida Education community college system, remains a top choice for higher education. Empowering the community one student at a time, HCC moves fearlessly forward paving the way to bold new futures with flexible options, exceptional tuition value, and support every step of the way.

Students will soon be able to earn up to sixty-eight academic credits by completing the Workforce Development classes. Learning Without Scars establishes an important link between education and workforce development. We are honored to have Hillsborough Community College join us in providing Lifelong Learning to Corporate and Continuing Education students.

The fundamental purpose of Learning Without Scars is to present meaningful and relevant professional educational theories and methods in an understandable manner. Our students take away ideas that have the potential to impact productivity, market penetration, and profitability in dealerships. We pride ourselves in being able to transfer knowledge to our students without them having to get the "scars" of mistakes along the way. Learning Without Scars is an IACET Approved Provider.
